The verdict was so worded as to show that Mr, Rawn was believed by the jurors to have been responsible for his own death, but the question of suicide or accident was left to be fought out by the family and the insurance companies. It took several hours' deliberation to reach a finding. One of the chief points involved in the long discussion was how to word the document in such a manner as not to deprive Rawn's family of any

As he stood there Pryor came up the road with a double-barrelled gun, and when about thirty yards away raised his weapon and fired both barrels in quick succession. Bentley states that the shock of the last shot turned him half way around, but managing to keep his balance, he turned toward Pryor and fired the one load which his gun contained.

Pryor fell and died before his wife, who had heard the shooting could reach his side.

Coroner J. D. Kiser, of Fayette, visited the scene Sunday afternoon and held an inquest. After hearing the testimony of Pryor's wife and reading the statement made by Bent-ley, the coroner's jury returned a verdict that Pryor was killed by Bentley in self defense.

Pryor was a son of the late Samuel Pryor, of Bourbon county, and the early years of his life were spent here. He was forty-seven years of age and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Gloria Pryor, who is studying for he stage in New York. The deceased was a brother of Mr. Jack

SOUTH'S CORN EXHIBIT WILL CREATE FURORE

One of the Big Features of the Ohio Valley Exposition.

Cincinnati, O. -(Special.)- The

general impression that the Middle West has a monopoly on the raising of corn promises to receive its quietus at the Ohio Valley Exposition, to be held in Cincinnati from Aug. 29 to Sept. 24. In assembling the industrials, products and resources which will make up the Southern exhibit at the Exposition, the representatives of the various railroads in the South are giving particular attention to securing examples of the South's natural wealth of which the outside world knows little or nothing. And working along this plan, special efforts are being made to secure a large and classy exhibit of corn grown in various sections of Dixie, with the idea of impressing visitors to the Exposition that the South will grow anything that any other section can produce, and in just as high quality. For some years the matter of experimenting with the growing of corn has been progressing in the South, with the result that experts now boldly announce that with proper application and the employment of up-to-date methods of cultivation, the South can be made the greatest cornproducing section of America. Reports from the Department of Agriculture in Washington give interesting figures on this experimental work. In South Carolina a boy, devoting all his time and knowledge to corn planting and cultivating, succeeded in raising 1521/2 bushels to the acre in a section where the average yield was but 16 bushels per acre. In Virginia nearly 1.000 acres were planted and cultivated under improved methods, with the result that an average

OTHER NOTED MEN TO ATTEND

Governors of Various States and Mayors of Cities of the Ohio Valley Promise Support to the Enterprise and Express Their Intentions of Visiting Cincinnati During the Great Exposition.

Cincinnati, O. - (Special.) - While no foreign potentates or visitors of royal birth have as yet announced their intention of attending the Ohio Valley Exposition, which will be held here next fall, a sufficient number of acceptances to invitations have been received from noted men of America to make the absence of foreign notables felt not at all. One of the first promises to attend the Exposition from men of international reputation was received from President Taft, who, besides praising the objects for which the Exposition will be held, declared his intention of spending at least a week in Cincinnati during the time of the progress of the big industial enterprise. Following the acceptance of President Taft came others from Governor Deneen, of Illinois; Governor Harmon, of Ohio; Governor Glasscock, of West Virginia; Governor Marshall, of Indiana; Governor Patterson, of Tennessee, and Gover nor Willson, of Kentucky. Later came assurances from all the mayors of the cities of the Ohio Valley, promising their support to the enterprise and expressing their intentions

Fashions change in warships as in everything else. The "Indiana," pictured above, was the latest thing in battleships during the Spanish-American war. Today she is almost passe. yield of 41 bushels per acre was se- of coming to Cincinnati to spend cured. In Alabama, Mi sissippi, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas similar good results have been obtained by scientific cultivation, so that it is a reasonable estimate to be secured with proper care and attention. Many cotton planters are turning to other staples as part of their annual crops because of the weevil, and those who have taken up the growing of corn are finding that it promises more than any other product. The display of Southerngrown corn at the Ohio Valley Expoand of excellent quality, and those assembling this exhibit declare that it will compare in every way with the best examples that will be offered by growers of the Ohio Valley or the prairie states.

POWER BOAT OF CONCRETE * NOW BEING CONSTRUCTED

Cincinnati, O. - (Special.) - What probably will be the first boat built of concrete navigating by its own power will soon be constructed in this city for use on the Miami and Erie canal during the Ohio Valley Exposition, which opens Aug. 29 and closes Sept. 24. This boat will be built on plans devised on information received from the United States War Department in regard to the construction of barges of concrete for use on the Panama canal work. It has been found that barges of this kind can be constructed more economically than wooden barges, and that they are just as easily handled as ordinary barges, with the advantage that they can be more readily cleaned of sea parasites than wooden barges. The method of construction is similar to that employed in erecting concrete buildings, in that the concrete is spread over wire framework, making a perfectly rigid and waterproof surface throughout.

It is planned to utilize this boat to tow pleasure barges, also constructed of concrete, on the canal during the Exposition, the barges to be brilliantly illuminated and each supplied with musicians, a sort of continuous water carnival being thus inaugurated, the beauty of which will be augmented of the canal and brilliant illumination.

some time during the Exposition.

Within the past few days another trump card has been played by the Exposition in securing the promise of Former President Roosevelt to come make that 45 bushels to the acre can to Cincinnati during the time of the Exposition. Colonel Roosevelt is desirous of coming here for several reasons. It was his great-uncle, Nicholas Roosevelt, who built the first blighting work of the cctton boll steamboat that navigated the Ohio river, she being launched just 100 years ago-in 1810-and it being partially in commemoration of this event that the exposition is being held. It also was in Cincinnati in sition promises to be comprehensive 1902 that Colonel Roosevelt, then president of the United States, made his first public official declaration in favor of improvement of inland waterways, a plan of conservation which has resulted, among other things, in the building of the Fernbank dam in the Ohio river, near Cincinnati, the completion of which also will be celebrated by the Exposition. It is expected that Colonel Roosevelt will spend several days in the city during the Exposition as the guest of his son-in-law, Congressman Nicholas Longworth.

FAMOUS POTTERY MAY GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS

Cincinnati, O.—(Special.)—Efforts are being made to have the Rookwood Pottery, Cincinnati's famous home of ceramics, place a working model in the Ohio Valley Exposition. It is the boast of the Rookwood management that it produces no duplicates-that every piece of art ware produced by its associates is an original. If this display is made, it will show how the various kinds of vases and other pieces are fashioned, and it is believed that arrangements can can be made by which prospective buyers may be allowed to place their autographs upon such pieces as they may select and have them decorated, glazed and produced later on. This practice has been pursued with a number of noted actresses and actors who have visited the Rookwood Potteries, including Mme. Schumann-Heinck, Eleanor Robson, Madame Modjeska, E. S. Willard and others and it is believed that it would add much to the attractiveness and general interest of the ceramic display at the Exposition.

FRIDAY.

Opportune hitting in the early sessions was responsible for the defeat of the Hustlers at White Park Friday afternoon, when the Bourbonites drove Lewis from the mound in the second inning after he had been pounded over the lot for four safeties, two of which went for extra bases, and which netted the locals a couple of runs in the

Lewis had walked a couple and his benders were just to the liking of the Bourbonites who were persistent in their efforts to put the ball in safe territory when men were on the has-socks. Free Remedy For Weak Bowels

There are two forms of bodily cleanliness, the external and the internal. The one is for your pride in yourself; the other for your life and health. Both are important, but of vastly more importance in the long

This is one point that all should watch about their body—the cleanliness of the bowels. Keep them clean and free from obstructions. To do this you must have one or two movements of the bowels each twenty-four hours. If your system does not do this naturally, in the process of eating and drinking, then you must obtain aid of some kind. After finding out that cathartics, salts and such things relieve you for a day, but bind you up worse than ever the next day, then try a simpler and more natural remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

For the skeptical the best way to begin is to send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. Use it as directed and if it convinces you that a brief continuance of its use will relieve you permanently—that it will train the stomach and bowel muscles to again work naturally at certain hours—then buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing. They began with a sample bottle, then bought a fifty cent bottle, and now, fully convinced of its merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

A brief use of this grand laxative tonic will cure constipation in its worst form, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such ailments and keep you in continuous good health at a very small cost. Such is the experience of many families like that of Mrs. Oscar Fleener, Unionville, Ind., J. F. Daniel, Saron, Tex., and hundreds of others that could be named.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. The Story of a Rose

By MARY A. BOWERS

Copyright, 1910, by American Press

If all the old books in the world could be opened at once and the articles found between their pages displayed to the world they would fill a museum. These inclosures would be made up of faded flowers, memoranda, bits of lace and occasionally a letter. And among those letters there would be found some that would wreck the peace of families. A librarian once told me that every book returned to the library was shaken and almost always something would drop out. How many of these articles could tell a love story?

I am-or was-a white rosebud. When I was born I don't remember any better than people remember when they were born. I was very young when I was plucked, and that is the earliest event in my life that I recall. It was a June morning, June 15 (I'll tell later why I know this), and most of the dewdrops on me had been absorbed by the air. A young man came into the garden. He was barely nineteen and as handsome as a picture. He wore no hat, and the sunshine poured in and out of his tumbled hair. He looked about among us flowers as if searching for one he especially wanted. Then his eyes lit on me. I was the only bud just opened. He plucked me and took me into the house. After breakfast he put me in his buttonhole and, calling his dog, set out down the road. Presently he stopped before a house, on the piazza of which stood a girl. She, too, was very young-only seventeen, I fancyand was dressed in pure white, not a hit of color about her. The young man turned in at the gate and joined her.

"I have come to say goodby," he said. "I am going away this afternoon to take the position that has been offered to me."

I saw the girl change countenance. I He also now has three nice barbers don't think he noticed it, but you which give quick service and are ar- know a man has not the delicate perceptive faculties of a white rose. They sat down together on wicker chairs and chatted for a long while. It seemed to me that he would have liked to tell her that he loved her, but some reason interposed, probably the fact that he was just starting in life and both were very young. At any rate, he rose to go without having done so. But he did the next best thing. He offered me to her and told her that if she would keep me till he came again he would have a secret to tell her. She tried to look indifferent when he called his dog and started back home. But as soon as he was well down the road she ran into the house, taking me with her, and up to her room, where she wept a long while. Then she noticed me on her bureau, where she had placed me, and put me in water. There I remained till she went to bed. A little English girl named Frances Just before doing so she placed me in a book of poems.

> In the morning as soon as she a woke she opened the book and kissed me. Then, lest I should fall from between the leaves, she pinned my stem to the leaf. Under me she wrote June 15.

This book of poems was to be my permanent home, a very fit dwelling gone she wrote under me on the margin of the page:

"Will he never come?"

Years passed-I don't know how many, perhaps five or six-and he did not come. Then the girl went away, leaving me with her other favorites. More years passed. One day a man came into the room where I was and packed all the books, the one I was in among the number, and they were carted away. When the box containing me was opened a man took out my book dwelling and placed it on a shelf of a shop with other books.

I must have been by this time eight Hundreds of orphans have been helped by the president of the Industrial a d Orphans' Home at Macon, Ga. who writes: "We have used Electric Pitters in the state of the Industrial Research of the Industrial Resea man came into the bookshop and asked if they had a certain book of poems. I was taken down and handed to him. He opened the cover, and when he saw the name written on the flyleaf I felt his hand tremble. Then he turned over the leaves till he came to the page to which I had been pinned. His fingers clutched the book in a sort of spasm.

"How much?" he asked the shop-

"Oh, you can have that for 10 cents." The purchaser tossed a bill on the counter and, forgetting his change, hurried away. The shopman called after him, but he did not hear.

I didn't recognize the purchaser till he saw me in the shop and what was written under me. Then I knew him. despite a full beard he wore. He took the book and me to his room in bachelor quarters, and there I remained a week. Then one day he wrapped us carefully in paper and took us to another city on a train. We there entered a house, and in a few moments a lady entered. The man looked at her and "I have come at last."

The lady looked at him and uttered a little cry. He handed the book to her, open at the page to which I was pinned, and my dear mistress and I looked each other in the face again. I now live with the two, who are narried, and am considered the most precious thing in the house.

A Poet's Estate.

After 57 years, the Russian courts have settled up the estate of the poet Gogol, celebrated in his day as a writer of lyrics. The poet died of hunger, kneeling before an ikon. The estate is valued at 43 roubles and 88 kopecks, or about $21.50.

Raise Turkeys.

Owing to the fact that the turkey has been domesticated but a compara-tively short time, its flavor more nearly resembles wild owl than any of our domesticated birds, excepting the guinea and the fact that it is more easily digested because the fiber is shorter and yields more readily to the disintegrating process, given it a dietetic advantage over beef. Other fowls may share the honors of the Thanksgiving table, but they are perennially secondary to the popular turkey. It is a surprising thing to us that more do not raise torkeys. Every farm seems to be adapted to their culture, and by some painstaking on the part of the owner or his wife this popular bird can be made to contribute a good deal to the farm income. Some reasons do not appear to be favorable for the most successful results, but even in bad years some turkey raisers succeed fairly well. When there is an shortage, and there is usually one about Thanksgiving time, prices are very high and the demand does not seem to abate with rising prices.

A Prayer For the Horse.

A square deal for the horse is the petition which the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society has put into a fervent equine prayer and has posted in stables all over the city, says a dispatch from Pittsburg.

"To thee, my master, I offer my prayer: 'Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done, provide me with shelter, a clean dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the rains. Pet me some times that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet. "Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that you know is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitos by cutting off my tail.

"And ffnally, Oh my master, when my useful strength is gone do not turn me out to starve or freeze or sell me to cruel owner to be slowly tortured and starved to death, but do thou my master take my life in the kindest way; your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen."

Many Injured When Seats Collapse.

As the result of a section of seats collapsing during the performance of John Hobinson's circus, showing at Richmond Thursday afternoon five persons were seriously hurt and scores of others were scratched and bruised. The fallen section contained more than two hundred people and it is romarkable that some were not killed. Damage suits ranging from $500 to $5,000 amounting in the aggregate to more than $14,000 have been filed by those injured in the accident against the show company. The suits were filed by those who suffered broken bones and other serious injuries. Warrants of attachments were ser ved on the show company, but the management executed an indemnity bond for appearance at the September term of the Madison Circuit Court.

Planning to Organize New League

A movement is on foot among the base ball enthusiasts of Harrodsburg, Uanville, Houstonville, Lancaster, Perryville and Stanford to organize an independent base ball league. The new organization, if perfected, will be known as the Central Kentucky Base Ball League, and it is likely that the promoters will meet in Danville next week to talk over the prospects. It is understood that no players will be used in the league other than the bonafide reisdents of the towns and counties which are neluded in the league, and no salaried players on the outside will be employed.
